Bio. Jose Ramon Saura, Vice-Dean of Research, Internationalization and Prof. Partnership in the Faculty of Business Economics (FCEE), is an Associated Professor (Tenured) of Data Analytics and Digital Marketing in the Business Economics Department at Rey Juan Carlos University (URJC), Madrid (Spain). Earlier in his career, he held positions and provided consultancy services to several prominent companies, including Google, L'Oréal, Deloitte, Telefónica, and MRM/McCann, among others. He obtained his international Ph.D. in Digital Marketing from URJC, conducting research at both London South Bank University (LSBU) and RCC at Harvard University. He has taught and undertaken research stays at over 28 universities worldwide. Notable affiliations include the Leiden Institute of Advanced Computer Science and the Institute of Public Administration at the University of Leiden, Harvard University, or the School of Economics and Management at the University of Porto. Jose Ramon Saura has served as a research evaluator for national funding and projects on behalf of the following institutions: Government of Italy, Ministry of University and Research (Rome, Italy); Government of Poland, National Science Center of Poland (Warsaw, Poland); National Research Council of the Netherlands, Dutch Research Council (The Hague, The Netherlands); Technology Agency of the Czech Republic (Prague, Czech Republic) and the Linz Institute of Technology (Linz, Austria).

His research has primarily centered on the theoretical and practical implications of various dimensions of user-generated data and content. He has emphasized three pivotal research methodologies applied to business and digital marketing: data mining and knowledge discovery. Currently, his research interests have evolved to encompass data-driven decision-making, online privacy, online behavior and surveillance capitalism. His contributions have been published in premier international journals in the fields of business, management, economics, marketing, and information sciences, such as: Journal of Innovation and Knowledge; International Journal of Production Economics; Government Information Quarterly; Industrial Marketing Management; Technovation; International Journal of Information Management; Technological Forecasting and Social Change; Journal of Business Research; Inter. Journal of Human-Computer Interaction; Computer Communications and Big Data Research, among others.

Jose Ramon Saura serves on editorial/reviewer boards of a number of business and information sciences journals. He is Associated Editor of SSCI Journals such as: IoT (JCR Q1 - Elsevier), Economic Research (JCR Q2 - Taylor and Francis), Frontiers in Psychology (JCR Q1 - Frontiers), among others.
